External curricular academic practices: Set of training activities, carried out by students in organizations, aimed at developing the practical and professional side of the training program. These activities are specifically established as such in the study plan of each bachelor's or master's degree and, consequently, carry academic recognition.

External extracurricular academic practices: Training activities that are not specifically included in the study plans of the official undergraduate or master's courses. The student does them voluntarily in organizations, intended to develop the practical and professional side, during the studies, and they pursue the same training objective as the curricular practices.

Educational cooperation agreements: Agreements that allow the consolidation of collaboration links between the University and the entities, with the aim of enriching the training of the students and allowing them to complete the knowledge received in the University with professional experiences.

Training project: Official document that includes the training program for the development of each external academic practice (curricular or extracurricular), both undergraduate and master's. It determines the objectives, characteristics, duration and commitments of the parties, and is linked to the corresponding educational cooperation agreement between the UdL and the collaborating entity in which the internships take place.

8. OPERATIONAL CONTENT

8.1 DESCRIPTION OF THE ACTIVITY

1. Plan the external practices

The center establishes the requirements for the internships, in accordance with the training program, to ensure consistency between the theoretical part and the external academic internships (procedure PG 02 Designing training programs) and current regulations. The student must have the basic information about the external academic practices, such as the memory script, the evaluation system, etc. The schedule of external academic practices is included in the center's annual schedule (procedure PG 22 Schedule the annual teaching plan).

The planning must provide for the implementation of the improvements agreed by the study committees, derived from the monitoring of the training program or the monitoring of external academic practices.

2. Process the agreement

Carrying out external academic internships requires the prior formalization of an educational cooperation agreement as a regulatory framework for relations between the student body, the collaborating entity and the UdL.

The function of the study committee is to propose to the competent bodies of the university collaboration agreements with other institutions and public and private bodies, as well as with companies so that students can do internships. All these collaborations must be formalized through an agreement.

The Internship Office is in charge of processing the educational cooperation agreement with the different entities.

3. Sign the agreements

The vice-rector responsible for Teaching at the UdL signs, by delegation of the Rector, agreements with the entities that have expressed their wish to admit students on internships.

4. Keep the database of entities updated

The internship coordinator and/or the persons responsible for the degree internships are responsible for initiating and/or maintaining contacts with public or private entities for the realization of external academic internships. The Internship Office must ensure that the database of signed agreements is kept up-to-date. The internship coordinator of the center, with the collaboration of the professor responsible for internships of the degree, is responsible for verifying and reviewing that the entities with which the external academic internships are carried out are suitable for the practical side or training project professional.

5. Spread the offer

With the aim that students can choose a specific internship position depending on their professional expectations, the center must publish the different positions of the entities in sufficient advance, specifying, where appropriate, the lines of work and the tasks to be carried out. The center's website (degree website) disseminates the practices.

6. Apply for internships

Enrolled students will be able, through the web portal, to access the list of curricular and extracurricular internship offers, register in the extracurricular internship exchange and update their curriculum vitae and personal data.

7. Assign places and tutors

The general coordinator of the external internships of the center or the professor responsible for the external internships of the degree guides the student on his selection and assigns places and the academic tutor. The criteria for the selection must be public. In general, the internship coordinator must assign places taking into account the following aspects:

- Student profile required by the institution
- Academic requirements

- Activities preferred by students
- Proximity of the student's residence to the institution

8. Sign the training project

The training project is individual for each student, and must be verified and signed by the student and by those responsible for the practices representing the signatories of the educational cooperation agreement that is linked to it, it is understood that they are the UdL and the entity in which the practice will be carried out. The document "Obligations and duties of the parties involved in the training project of external practices" is also included.

9. Carry out external academic practices

The student does the internship in the assigned entity, he must fulfil the training project signed.

10. Follow up on external academic practices

The general coordinator of the external internships of the center or the professor responsible for the external internships of the degree must hold sessions for planning and monitoring the internships in the different degrees with the specific academic tutors of each degree.

The student who starts an internship has a tutor at the institution in which he is doing the internship and an academic tutor who oversees his training, guides him and monitors the internship training project through sessions of tutoring.

11. Present the report

At the end of the internship period, the student must present the report, evaluated by the entity where the internship took place, and hand it to the academic tutor. Afterwards, if applicable, he must defend the report orally in front of a court.

12. Assess the student

The evaluation of the activity consists of the entity's evaluation report (prepared by the entity's tutor), the academic tutor's assessment report and, where appropriate, the tribunal's assessment of the memory defended orally by the student.

13. Evaluate the activity

At the end of the internship, the student answers an opinion questionnaire about the external academic internship.

14. Follow up

The general coordinator of the external practices of the center or the professor responsible for the external practices of the degree collects and analyses the information of the training project: opinion of the students on the academic practices, opinion of the tutors (d 'entities and academics'), participation data, incidences and/or resolution of these during internships, etc.

The external academic practices of the official training programs of the UdL are part of the information that is analysed and reviewed in the annual monitoring of official degrees (procedure PG 03 Review and improve training programs), through which improvement is guaranteed continuation of the training programs and the procedures that develop it.

15. Approve the improvements to be introduced

The center's study committees are responsible for approving the improvements that must be introduced to the external practices of the center's training programs, either because they are proposed by the coordinator or general coordinator of the center's external practices or the teacher in charge of the external practices of the degree, well because they derive from the annual monitoring of the official degrees.

16. Collect accounts and publish information

The general coordinator of the center's external internships or the professor responsible for the degree's external internships provides information and reports annually to the dean's team and the center's study committees on the operation of the program, the results and the incidents that have occurred.

The information on the external internships is made public through the website of each training program (procedure PG 23 Publish information and receive accounts on the training programs).
